Waste & Recycling Workers Week

June 11-17, 2023

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), the Solid Waste & Recycling industry remains one of the ten deadliest occupations in North America, with 46 worker fatalities in 2022. The majority of those incidents involved vehicles — often being struck by a third party vehicle. Even more members of the public die in collisions with solid waste collection vehicles each year.

For your safety, and that of workers, slow down, and be cautious around trucks and equipment.
